The dogs and puppies available for adoption come to us in a variety of ways, but they all have one thing in common: they need loving and permanent homes. All canines have their health strictly monitored while in the care of the animal shelter. However, due to the stressful situations under which many of these arrive, there is always the chance an animal is incubating a disease without showing clinical signs. We recommend a visit to your veterinarian within seven (7) days of the adoption date. The Jessamine County Animal Shelter believes these canines to be in good health, but does not guarantee the health of any canine or assume any financial responsibility for future veterinary costs.

When adopting a dog/puppy from the Jessamine County Animal Shelter, we expect you to make a lifetime commitment to the care of this canine. If, however, you ever find yourself unable to properly care for this animal, we ask that you agree to make every effort to return it to the Jessamine County Animal Shelter.

While it is the intent of the Jessamine County Animal Shelter to find permanent, loving, stable, and responsible homes for all of its animals, we do reserve the right to refuse adoption.

By signing below, you agree that the information provided on this application is correct to the best of your knowledge and that you have read and agree to all statements above. Anyone who misleads or fails to provide accurate information will be denied all future adoption rights.
